NEEDS

Founder and President Kathleen Maxian has been working relentlessly for a decade now to establish and grow the organization. Kathleen's focus has been on supporting patients with ovarian cancer and the Ovarian Cancer Project has done excellent work in this regard. Now it's time for the internal operations to keep pace with their growth. The Board of Directors needs to be expanded and a new strategic plan created.

SOLUTIONS

1

Organizational Audit and Documentation of Need

Thrive is working with Kathleen to review the organization's nonprofit management practices and document any gaps so they can be addressed in 2023.

2

Board Development

Thrive will help guide recruitment of new board members to expand the board and plug the right people into the right roles at the organization. Board training and a review of the organization's bylaws will follow.

3

Strategic Planning

Once the new Board of Directors and officers are recruited and settled, Thrive will lead a strategic planning retreat to help the organization determine where it goes next and how they will impact the community they serve.

Why the Ovarian Cancer Project Chose to Work with Thrive Community Consulting

"I've known Jeanette since 2015. When she started Thrive Community Consulting, I wanted the Ovarian Cancer Project to be one of her first clients. She brings experience, knowledge, and strong leadership skills to the table and is a perfect fit to help bring our organization to the next level." - Kathleen Maxian, Founder, Ovarian Cancer Project
